

For Thee (Tristan and Isolt)

Duet Instructions: Tristan, Isolt, Both

Love, come where ye will The beating heart cannot stand still
All danger will I dare All sorrow will I bear For thee

Do I betray my fealty, or else betray my love for thee?
My knightly oath to Mark forsworn, or my dear love to be forlorn?
Oh, I am pledged to Mark as wife, but can I live without my life?
I'll not regret Brangaine's mistake, and I will never thee forsake.

Love, come where ye will The beating heart cannot stand still
All danger will I dare All sorrow will I bear For thee

I'll be thy champion on the field I'll be the Queen to whom ye yield
Only in secret can our love shine Only in secret can ye be mine
For when we set foot upon the shore I must be distant from thee once more
Before cruel Fate does part our ways Let's live a lifetime in these few days

Love, come where ye will The beating heart cannot stand still
All danger will I dare All sorrow will I bear For thee

I long so much to touch thy face, and be held tightly in thy embrace
But good King Mark must never know, and our feelings must never show
So bittersweet will be our nights, and all too brief will be our delights
For happiness must vie with woes, when Love and Honor are bitter foes.

Love, come where ye will The beating heart cannot stand still
All danger will I dare All sorrow will I bear
All trials sent from above Will only prove my love
For thee, for thee, for thee, for thee.....For thee

M. Rosalind Jehanne/ Jonna Bernstein
December 2009